

AMAR International, Inc. Part of JV Awarded CIO-SP3 Small Business Contract

Reston, VA. July 9, 2012. AMAR International, Inc. (AMAR) is one of the JV partnering companies to have been awarded a Chief Information Office - Solutions and Partners 3 (CIO-SP3) contract administered by the National Institutes of Health Information Technology Acquisition and Assessment Center (NITAAC). Contract holders have developed innovative and secure solutions for agencies across the federal government and initiatives as diverse as Cloud Computing, Cyber Defense and Health IT.

CIO-SP3 is a Government-wide Acquisition Contract (GWAC) that can be used by any federal civilian or Department of Defense agency to acquire information technology products, services and solutions. Under this contract, General Dynamics will deliver health and biomedical information technology services to help agencies meet scientific, health, administrative, operational and information management requirements. The contract also supports initiatives to integrate healthcare IT systems and broader IT architectures, enabling seamless operations across the enterprise-wide infrastructure.

The 10-year multiple-award, Indefinite Delivery, Indefinite Quantity (IDIQ) contract has a potential value of $20 billion to all awardees. The CIO-SP3 contract replaces the expired CIO-SP2, a contract General Dynamics has held for the past 10 years. General Dynamics has supported many health-focused Federal agencies over the past 30 years, including the Department of Veterans Affairs, the Military Health System and the U.S. Health and Human Services' Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services. The company has delivered and managed health IT solutions and services, including designing, developing and implementing software applications, establishing health information exchange standards, managing multi-channel contact centers and overseeing data warehousing and analytical operations.
